

COMBAT MINDSET BRANDMARK

Meaning led: control, readiness, resilience, decisive action

Army Command School

August 2026

The mark should say controlled capability under pressure, not rage. Nothing here uses skulls, weapons or snarling imagery. Each option is built from three ideas: what surrounds the soldier, what holds at the centre, and what the soldier does about it.

RECOMMENDED

- Three arcs
The pressure that surrounds, and the Prepare, Perform, Recover cycle.
- A solid core
Self-command. The centre holds while the environment does not.
- A forward spearhead
Decisive action, struck in red. The only colour in the mark.

See clearly. Remain controlled. Act decisively.

On white

Single colour

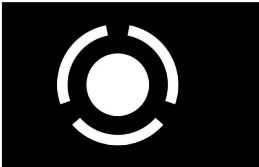

In the patch

Small

ALTERNATIVES

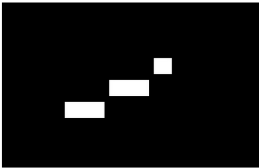

CORE

Arcs and a solid centre. Self-command while the environment turns chaotic.

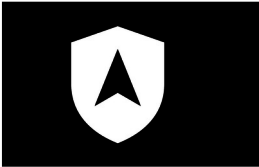

FOCUS

The eye as awareness and threat recognition. Mindset begins with seeing clearly.

REFORM

A line broken by adversity that resets and continues forward, higher each time.

GUARD

The shield of restraint with the spearhead of decision cut through it.

Note. The recommended mark carries the three-part story without writing it down, and the arcs give it a quiet link to Prepare, Perform and Recover. It is the only option here that says all three things at once.