The Transition

LEAD SELF → LEAD TEAMS

The most significant shift in your career.

You are no longer responsible only for your own standards. You are responsible for the standards, performance and welfare of others — under pressure, in the field, and in garrison.

This course is built around that transition.

The Framework

The Story of Our NZDF Leadership Framework

Te Kāuru | Develop Positive Culture The Canopy | Whakawhanake Ahurea Haumako

The leaves of every branch mingle to form the tree canopy, so do the climates of units merge to form the culture of the NZDF. The health of the Tōtara tree is visible most clearly in the tree canopy. Te Kāuru encourages leaders to ensure the tone of their teams and the climate of their units are healthy and contribute positively to the culture of the NZDF.

Te Kātua | Influence others The Trunk | Whakaaweawe Tāngata

The trunk of the Tōtara with the Pītau a Manāia design symbolises life and growth as it reaches down towards Papatūānuku and upwards to Ranginui (Sky Father), bringing light into a world of darkness. Leaders build connections to influence others and build trust.

Ngā Aka | Live the NZDF Ethos & Values The Roots | Whakaoratia te Mauri me ngā Uara

Roots represent connections that keep us firmly anchored to Papatūānuku (Earth Mother) where leadership is defined and modelled through Manaakitanga (Hospitality), Whakaiti (Humility), Whakapapa (Genealogy), Whanau (Family), Whanaungatanga (Kinship) and Mana (Respect and influence). Like the Ethos and Values, roots nourish and strengthen the entire tree.

E kore te Tōtara e tū noa i te pārae, engari me tū i roto i te wao nui a Tāne.

The Tōtara does not stand alone in the field, but stands within the great forest of Tāne.

Te Kāpuhipuhi | Mission Focus Tree Top | Aranga Whakatakanga

As the Tōtara continually strives to grow towards Te Rā (the sun), so does the NZDF make every effort to achieve the mission. The Tōtara's leaves track the progress of the sun encouraging the tree top to optimise its position within the forest. Units must anticipate changes in their mission, adapting to operational requirements and the enemy. Te Kāpuhipuhi also brings to mind guardianship and that in exercising rangatiratanga (authority and leadership) a leader must never place themselves ahead of the mission.

Ngā Kaupeka | Develop Teams The Branches | Whakatūpu Rōpu

As the branches support the canopy of the Tōtara so do teams support NZDF culture. Ngā Kaupeka are diverse and unique in shape and support mahi tahi (unity). The Tōtara branches represent the specific duties given to Tāne's siblings, Tangaroa (Sea), Tūmatauenga (War), Tāwhirimātea (Wind), along with Te Ira Tāngata (human element) NZDF civilians and our whanau.

Te Uru a Tāne | Think Smart Tāne's Head | Whakaaro Atamai

Te Uru a Tāne brings knowledge and insightful thinking to leadership. In the same way that Thinking Smart connects to the Ethos and Values, Te Uru a Tāne strengthens the base of the Tōtara tree and its connection to Papatūānuku.

What ELDA Means

E

Experiential

You learn by doing.

L

Leadership

Under pressure, with consequences.

D

Development

Growth, not assessment.

A

Activity

In tough country, on your feet.

The Aim

To enhance individual performance and resilience through small team leadership in a physically and mentally challenging environment.

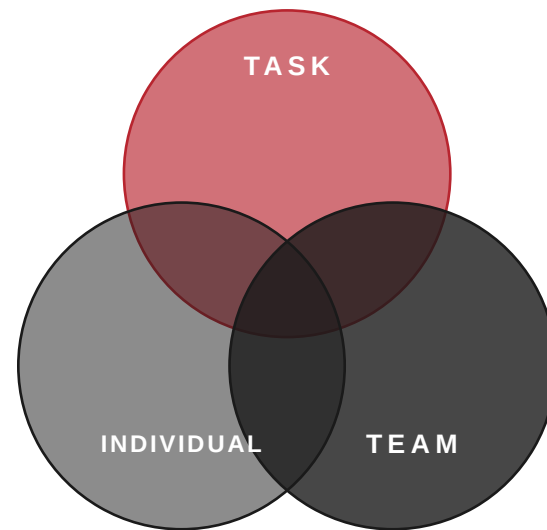

We are not testing you. We are developing you.

Why It Matters

Pressure exposes leadership.

The goal is to minimise the adverse effects of pressure on tasks and relationships — yours, and your team's.

Resilient leaders carry less risk. Resilient teams sustain output, morale and performance when others fall away.

Your job: keep all three in play — especially when pressure is on.

Prepare. Perform. Recover.

By the end of this week you will understand and demonstrate how your actions and words can help — or hinder — team performance under pressure.

The Activity

Non-tactical close country navigation.

It is about whether — when you are tired, cold, and the team is looking at you — your actions and your words lift the team or break it.

That is what we are here to develop.

LEAD SELF.
LEAD TEAMS.
WIN THE MISSION.

Over to you.
