

TWO CONTINUUMS. ONE LEADERSHIP FRAMEWORK.

One visual. The LDF is the common spine; the two Army promotion continuums are mapped against it, side by side.

THE DISCREPANCY

The answer emerging from page 1, drawn as two flows. The background decision-makers should have. Then the challenge, in COMDT's posture.

BACKGROUND THE DECISION-MAKERS SHOULD HAVE (STATED 9 SEP; TO BE VERIFIED)

WHAT HAS BEEN TRIED A two-year pilot attached Lead Leaders to Grade 2 and 3 coursing; withdrawn as untenable time away from units. A distributed, self-scheduled approach was agreed instead. The Post Commissioning Programme put every junior officer through Lead Leaders, but before unit experience: the wrong time.	WHY IT STALLED AITC agreed in principle that officers should complete it; the proposal was parked in a headquarters restructure. ACS was not at the table for later course redesigns, so no coordinated look at where the training nests. Above Lead Leaders, delivery passed to ILD in 2012 and Army cannot guarantee seats.	THE EXPLANATION OFFERED (NOT ESTABLISHED) 'A scheduling oversight in the face of tempo': training that is not required is the training that gets bumped. Senior leaders complete everything and may assume everyone does. The middle, 2LT to MAJ, is where it is missed, and it is the formative first years in unit.

IS THIS DIFFERENCE A CONSCIOUS CHOICE?

IF SO:
what is the rationale for treating Officer and Soldier leadership development differently?

IF NOT:
should Army apply a more consistent principle to development before progression into increased leadership responsibility?

No recommendation. The organisation answers. Page 3 shows what 'yes' would look like, if asked.

VISUAL LOGIC

Two flows, identical steps, one difference: the soldier flow is solid at every step and ends in a deliberate link; the officer flow goes dashed at the point under test and ends in an unclear link. The background strip is there so the discussion does not retread ground already tried; the explanation offered at the meeting is shown as a candidate, not a finding. The question is posed in COMDT's posture, both branches given equal weight.

CURRENT AND DESIRED: ONE PAGE

The future state the meeting described: course, transition, who delivers, and the mandate written into promotion policy. Detachable; tabled only if AITC asks what 'yes' means.

LDF TRANSITION	SOLDIER: RANK	COURSE AND DELIVERY	MANDATE NOW	DESIRED	OFFICER: RANK	COURSE AND DELIVERY	MANDATE NOW	DESIRED
Entry Lead Self	Civilian > PTE	Lead Self; train-the-trainer (TAD, ACS)	Compulsory	No change	Civilian > OCDT	Lead Self; as for soldiers	Compulsory	No change
T1 Lead Teams	PTE > LCPL	ELDA + LDS Lead Teams; inside JNCO course (ALC)	Mandated	No change	OCDT > 2LT	ELDA + LDS Lead Teams; inside NZCC (ALC at OCS)	Embedded	No change
T2 Lead Leaders	CPL > SGT	ELDA + LDS Lead Leaders; inside SNCO course (ALC)	Mandated in policy	No change	2LT / LT > CAPT	ELDA + LDS Lead Leaders; distributed window after 2 years in unit (ALC)	Recommended; policed in function	Mandated in policy for substantive CAPT CHANGE
T3 Lead Systems	SSGT > WO2	ELDA Lead Systems inside WO course (ALC); LDS Lead Systems (ILD)	ELDA mandated; LDS prerequisite to check	LDS prerequisite confirmed; ILD seats aligned to promotion timing CHANGE	CAPT > MAJ	ELDA Lead Systems (ALC); LDS Lead Systems (ILD)	Not mandated; self-selected	Mandated in policy before OC appointment CHANGE
T4 Lead Capability	WO2 > WO1	LDS Lead Capability (ILD)	Expected; not in policy?	Mandated in policy; ILD seat guaranteed CHANGE	MAJ > LTCOL	LDS Lead Capability (ILD)	Not mandated; most attend	Mandated in policy CHANGE
T5 Lead Integrated Capability	WO1 > Senior WO1	LDS LIC: ELDA week (ALC / Navy) + LDS week (ILD)	Not stated; full attendance	Stated in policy CHANGE	LTCOL > COL	LDS LIC: ELDA week (ALC / Navy) + LDS week (ILD)	Not stated; full attendance	Stated in policy CHANGE
T6 Lead Organisation	Senior WO1	LDS Lead Organisation + ELDA (ILD; contracted facilitation)	Not stated; full attendance	Stated in policy CHANGE	COL > BRIG	LDS Lead Organisation + ELDA (ILD; contracted facilitation)	Not stated; full attendance	Stated in policy CHANGE

WHAT CHANGES, AND WHAT DOES NOT

No new courses and no new money: ILD and NZLC already deliver every course on this page. The change is procedural: the mandate written into promotion policy at each transition, for both continuums, with ILD seat allocation aligned to Army promotion timing and the officer window placed after unit experience, not at OCS. Completion then becomes a reportable metric.

VISUAL LOGIC

Shaded DESIRED cells are the change; unshaded rows already match. Content is the future state as described at the 9 Sep meeting and is not an endorsed position. It exists to answer the AITC action 'develop a visual mapping of the current versus desired framework' and stays off the table unless the room answers page 2 with 'not a conscious choice'.
